Lab Activity 1

Search the Internet and research at least three compiled languages and three interpreted languages utilized to create web pages. Also, research client-side and server-side programming and find at least three examples of how client-side programming is utilized and three examples of how server-side programming is utilized.

Submit a Word document that identifies your findings.