Argument Essay: Plan of Development

Write one page describing your paper topic and your reason for choosing it. State your argumentative thesis and the reasons supporting your view on the topic. So as not to appear biased, you will also need to include opposing views. Your argument will consist of you incorporating information from sources and your own logical thinking that refutes the opposing views and supports your position. You may wish to approach the writing of your Plan of Development as if it were the introduction to your argumentative essay.

Once you have completed your Plan of Development, place it into an MS Word document and submit it. Use your POD to begin writing your Argumentative essay.

© Joy Lyle and Indian Hills Community College