Lab Exercise 5
Journal Abstract from AHIMA Article

For this lab, you will go to the American Health Information Management (AHIMA) website www.ahima.org. On the top of the page you will select Publications, from there select “Journal of AHIMA” which is the official publication of AHIMA. HIT and MIC students, you will receive this publication via the mail with their student membership.

You are to select an article that is of interest for you (note the categories that are available for you to review on the left hand side). Then, you are required to summarize the article of your choice. You are required to include the Name of Article, Name of the Author, Name of Journal, and Date of the Journal.

Please make sure to follow the required paper format requirements: A one-page typed document of 400 to 500 words, single spaced, and no larger than 12-point font. Include your name, course name, course number and section number, and date of paper submission in the top right hand corner of the page.
